Studying Clinical Research Message from Newcastle University

Newcastle University's online and campus-based clinical research programmes equip students with the skills to perform to a high level in the clinical research world. Many of our students go on to publish in peer reviewed journals and much more. An excellent example is physiotherapist Annie Ross, who studied for a MClinRes through distance learning, and recently published online. Our next intake is September 2017. But, if you don't want to wait, take a look at <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/medicallsciences-online/clinical-health-sciences/programme> or <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/medicallsciences-online/module-library/>

Responses to EOIs for commercial studies

Thank you! from R&D Manager Jane Greenaway, I just wanted to say a huge thank you for the increase we've seen in responses to Expressions of Interest for commercial studies.

As you may remember the network set this as one of the "Quality Improvement" (QI) metrics for all Trusts that we respond – and it's as important to state why we aren't able to participate. I'm pleased to tell you that we now achieve an 85% response rate to these (compared with 37% last year !).

GOOD NEWS!

North Tees R&D GI team (Dr Roisin Bevan, Carol Adams, Debbie Wilson ) were first in the network to recruit to GI collaborative study MOGIC.
